

I will prove that it takes seven ordinary riffle shuffles to mix up a deck of 52 cards. The mathematics involved leads to Hodge decompositions of Hochschild homology and new theorems about hyperplane arrangements and buildings. It has also changed the law in Las Vegas. (Joint work with Dave Bayer and Ken Brown)